

Data Literacy - Notes

In each class, we'll be using a template for note-taking, this is something that you will be filling out throughout a lesson. This template comprises three key sections: notes, questions, and summary. Follow the flow of 1 notes, 2 questions, and 3 summary.

1. Beginning with the notes section, aim to jot down at least three main concepts or ideas that you understand as you listen to the class content.
 2. Move onto the questions section, and challenge yourself to write a minimum of three questions. If you're struggling for ideas, consider the "why, how, and what" framework to guide your questioning. For instance, think about why a concept matters, how it applies in the real world, or what aspects you find particularly intriguing or confusing.
 3. Finally, in the summary section, think about the lesson's most important points. Reference your notes for clarity.
